The Manons Republican Convention instructed its delegates to the Republican National Convention to vote as a unitthat is to say, to vote for ARTHUR. These instructions have no value whatever. In 1880 the New York Republican State Convention instructed the delegates from that State to the National Convention to vote as a unit; and Mr. Conkling, the chairman of the delegation, was reported as having said that when the name of the State of New York should be called he would cast its entire vote, although he knew that a number of the delegates claimed the right to vote each as he pleased, or by districts. But what was the result? Mr. GARFIELD 38 chairman of the Committee on Rules reported in favor of district representation, and the Convention by a large majority adopted that rule, although the GRANT delegates, led by such influential men as Conkling, Cameron, and Located and voted for by the BLAINE and the addition of provisions to repeal men, sealed the fate of GRANT, LOGAN, and CONKLING, and of the third term. Under the operation of that rule the votes of a number of the instructed ern votes.' delegates from New York, Pennsylvania, Lilipois, and other States, were cast and unit rule was made the nominee of the Na- have supported. tional Convention, and became President of the United States.

Now, here in Virginia, in 1884, the Ma-HONE Republicans have attempted to give new life to the unit rule discarded in 1880, and to fetter the delegates to the Republican National Convention of this year. Will the attempt be successful? Of course if the delegates choose to vote as a unit they can do so. Nobody will object. Nobody could successfully object. But if the delegates from even one district shall claim the right to vote for a candidate for whom the delegates from the other eight districts shall not be willing to vote, they will be permitted to do so. There can be no doubt upon this point. The question was settled four years ago. The name of GARFIELD will prove a potent vention, composed as it will be largely of BLAINE-GARFIELD delegates, and nobody will dare to propose to adopt the unit rule which was rejected by the last Convention after being denounced by the man who a year later was murdered. The Democratic delegation from Virginia had some trouble in 1876, in St. Louis, growing out of the attempt to enforce the unit rule in that delegation. Mr. Bocock made a beautiful and eloquent speech in the delegation in favor of the adoption of the unit rule, and the delegation decided by a large majority (about four to one) to vote as a unit. But the action of the majority was not held to be binding upon the minority, one of whom at least (Colonel M. G. HARMAN) demanded in open Convention and was accorded the right to vote for his own favorite candidate to the last. He voted on both ballots (there were only two) for HENDRICKS, and when on the second ballot Mr. Bocock, the chairman of the delegation, reported that he was authorized (as he thought he was) to make as you continue to be Democratic. the vote of the Virginia delegation unanimous for TH.DEN, Mr. HARMAN still objected. FITZ HUGH LEE, HENRY E. PEYTON, WILgates who voted for BAYARD; and BOCOCK, FLOURN Y. WATTS, JOHNSON, ANSON, SUTH-ERLAND, HINTON, MANN, SOUTHALL, MERE-DITH, GUNTER, O'BRIEN, SINCLAIR, NEAL, COGHILL, GODWIN, and General JAMES A. WALKER for TILDEN.

These names and facts are republished as interesting. The facts show that the unit rule is a rule that binds nobody except those who choose to be bound by it, National Convention.

He also got scattering votes in other States. What did ARTHUR? He bagged Florida, and some of the votes of New Hampshire and Texas. EDMUNDS got two States-Massachusetts and Vermont. Other conventions were held yesterday whose results, except in the rotten boroughs of the South, will likely tell the same story-namely, that ARTHER is out of the race, and EDMUNDS a mere dummy candidate. Mr. BLAINE said several days before the Convention of his State met that if any other candidate than himself could get one delegate from Maine he would withdraw from the contest. This was terribly cutting to Mr. ARTHUR, who, with all the Government patronage at his disposal and all the Govfewer votes in his own State of New York than did Mr. BLAINE.

Mr. RANDALL objects, claiming that 50 per cent., or five cents, is not too high a tariff. Where is the principle? Mr. Morrison professes to hold that there is a principle involved, but not very successfully. Let him come out for free trade, and then there will be a real difference.

Let the tariff a'one. The Lynchburg Virginian comes out against instructing the Virginia delegates to the Democratic National Convention. We doubt that they could be instructed. since it is not probable that there will be a be either candidate or President, which everybody who has ever spoken or written to me upon the subject knows."

Now, some may think that Mr. EDMUNDS ought to have written, "I am neither desirous nor willing to be either candidate or President," "desirous" being a much stronger word than "willing." That is, that he is not only not desirous but he is not even willing, &c. But Mr. EDMUNDS is a literary epicure. He means, "I am neither willing to be a candidate nor desirous to be President." This sort of construction is common enough.

Too Good to BE TRUE .- The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune says that it is understood that "the freetrade members of the Ways and Means Committee have at last consented to take into favorable consideration certain propositions for the further modification of the MORRISON bill."

He adds : "They include the abandonment or ma-terial modification of proposed additions to the free list, in order to secure the votes of Democrats from California, West Vir-ginia, and Maryland; the application of the 20 per cent. reduction on wool to the rates fixed by the act of 1867, instead of the present rates, in the hone of wind GAN, made a bitter fight against it. Again we repeat, delegates to Chicago should be sent unhastructed, both as to candidates and as to platform. Recommendations can be made to them, but no bouds should be placed upon them. President Arthur is said to be very sensitive about the charge that he has used the Federal patronage to aid his chances of reelection. This he denies, while here in Virginia the Mahoneites openly proclaim, "We are for Arthur because Arthur is for us."

The Line Has Been Drawn.

The Democratic party know well the opposition they must expect. The line is clearly drawn. The accession of Mahone and his followers will add but little strength and his followers will add out little strength to the Republican party in this State, while the Democratic party will be strengthened, if not by accessions, at least by honest pur-pose, firm resolve, and earnest effort to show that principle is better than policy, and that Virginia is true to principle.
